CYPRUS, CRETE AND RHODES

The story of Cyprus' tumultuous past is told through its historic sites, its Roman ruins, its multi-faceted museums and its dusty urban streets. This ease of accessibility is highlighted in Paphos, where one of the most important archaeological sites sprawls like an ancient theme park next to a tourist resort. Experience the intrinsically different Greek and Turkish societies of modern Cyprus with its fractured identity, a passionate people and culture, and beautiful landscape and lifestyle.

There is something undeniably artistic in the way the landscape of Crete unfolds, from the sun-drenched beaches in the north to rugged canyons spilling into the cove-studded south coast. In between the valleys, villages are cradled in the landscape and the gorges have a cave where Zeus was born. Crete's natural beauty is equalled only by the richness of its history. The island is the birthplace of the first advanced society on European soil, the Minoans, who ruled over much of the Aegean some 4,000 years ago. You'll find vestiges of this mysterious civilisation all over Crete, including the famous "Palace of Knossos" and the legend of the labyrinth of King Minos and the slaying of the Minotaur by Theseus to save the king's daughter, Ariadne. At the crossroads of three continents, Crete has been coveted and occupied by consecutive invaders.

History imbues the air in the old towns of Chania and Rethymno where a labyrinth of laneways, laid out by the Venetians, are lorded over by mighty fortresses and where gorgeously restored Renaissance mansions nestle beside mosques and Turkish bathhouses. In the end though, it is the people that create the most vivid memories. Crete's people champion their unforgettable unique culture, customs and time-honoured traditions.

Rhodes is rightly celebrated for the splendour of its medieval architecture and evocative old town and it is generally considered one of the most beautiful of the Greek Islands. The crusader Knights of St John (1309-1522) called Rhodes home after their expulsion from the Holy Land, and it is their legacy of massive castles and the old town that we enjoy today. Here, according to legend, stood the Colossos of Rhodes, a bronze statue of Helios, the Sun-God, erected in 290BC, standing astride the harbour entrance and one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World.

KYRENIA – NICOSIA

Today, we'll drive to the Turkish region of Northern Cyprus - occupied by Turkey since 1974. Passports are required today and tomorrow as you are entering Turkish territory. We'll drive past the beautiful landscape of the Pentadaktylos, meaning 'Five Fingers,' mountain range. The first stop in the North is to Bellapais Abbey, situated in the village of Bellapais. It is considered one of the best-preserved examples of Gothic architecture on the island and is built almost entirely out of local limestone. Then we'll explore the picturesque town of Kyrenia with its horseshoe-shaped harbour, its spectacular medieval castle and its maze of narrow streets with exquisitely preserved stone houses. The most important monument inside the town is the Kerynia Castle Museum, which has, amongst other exhibits, a famous Shipwreck dating to circa 300 BC. From Kyrenia, we'll next visit Nicosia ("Lefkosia"), the only divided capital city in the world. We enter the city by driving along the Green Line, the capital's dividing borderline, passing by the newly restored Famagusta Gate. We continue to the Archbishop's Palace to view St. John's Cathedral. Our tour continues to the picturesque old quarter of "Laiki Yitonia" where we'll have time to walk around the charming winding alleyways lined with numerous traditional houses, shops and galleries. Dinner at a fish tavern. Overnight at Livadhiotis Hotel (or similar). B/D

Day 3, Monday 20th April

FAMAGUSTA – SALAMIS – AYIA NAPA

On the island's eastern side lies the beautiful coastal town of Famagusta, trapped in a time-lock since the Turkish invasion of Cyprus in 1974. We'll explore the old city medieval walls, the spectacular Gothic Cathedral of St. Nicholas, now operating as a mosque and the famous 'Othello's Tower'. Stroll through narrow streets, shop in the Bazaar and then drive close to the 'Ghost Town', the sealed-off area of Famagusta. Together, we will discover the historical background of Famagusta with visits to the ancient capital Salamis, founded in the 11th Century BC, right after the Trojan War. Then, we'll visit the archaeological site, which includes a beautiful ancient Greek theatre, Hellenistic theatres, and Roman Colonnades. Our last stop will be Asia Napa, one of the most well-known resorts in the Mediterranean Sea. Around 1500 AD, a monastery was built around the cave, in honour of the Virgin Mary of Ayia Napa. Dinner is at a restaurant by Larnaca Promenade. Overnight at Livadhiotis Hotel, Larnaca. B/D

PETRA TOU ROMIOU – PANAYIA – PAPHOS

Today, our excursion will be all about history, legends and the spectacular views over some of the most beautiful parts of Cyprus. The first visit will be at the Crusader Castle of Kolossi, a fine example of military architecture. Then we stop at the ancient city of Kourion, where we'll see the famous Greco-Roman theatre and mosaics and enjoy the view that the Greeks and Romans had inside this amazing ancient city. Archaeological evidence and historical sources depict Kourion as one of Cyprus's most important ancient kingdoms. Our journey will continue past the Episkopi, a British military base and then to Aphrodite's Rock, one of the island's most famous attractions. Here we will see the place where the Goddess of Love and Beauty was born from the foam of the sea. Then on to the stunning Chrysorrogiatissa Monastery, established in 1152. Lunch is at a family-owned winery, Vouni Panagia. Our last stop is at Paphos, a UNESCO World Heritage Site.  Day 5, Wednesday 22nd April

THE BATHS OF APHRODITE – AKAMAS

Today's excursion is optional and more appropriate for the fitter amongst the group. (Importantly, this is only suitable for those who can walk through bushland and up and down hills for a few hours. It is considered a light-medium trek). Those not joining have a day at leisure or may join the group but not do the walk. Those joining the trek will wind through beautiful forests, canyons, and deserted beaches. The Akamas peninsula, named after an Athenian warrior and son of Theseus, who arrived here after the Trojan War, is a unique area, both geologically and ecologically. It is also home to the Baths of Aphrodite. Legend has it that after swimming in the bay's crystal clear waters, Aphrodite would bathe in the waters of a small grotto shaded by an old fig tree. According to mythology, this is where Adonis saw and fell in love with her while hunting in the Akamas forest. Dinner tonight is at a seafood restaurant. A picnic lunch box for the trekkers can be arranged (at own cost) if required. B/D

 Day 6, Thursday 23rd April
KAKOPETRIA – KYKKOS – OMODHOS

After breakfast, we'll drive towards the Troodos Mountains, the biggest mountain range in Cyprus, in the island's centre. Troodos' highest peak is Mount Olympus at 1,952m, considered the island's green heart. Many famous mountain resorts, Byzantine monasteries, churches on mountain peaks, and villages clinging to terraced hill slopes nest in its valleys. Our first stop is at Kakopetria, a well-preserved village with traditional picturesque houses dating back to the 14th century AD. Following Kakopetria, we will experience one of the wealthiest monasteries in Cyprus, Kykkos. The Holy Monastery of the Virgin of Kykkos was founded around the end of the 11th century by the Byzantine emperor Alexios I Komnenos (1081 – 1118) and lies at an altitude of 1318m on the northwest face of the Troodos Mountains. The day ends with a stop in another traditional village called Omodos, known as one of the best wine-producing villages on the island. To top off our day, we'll step into a winery and learn the history of the island's winemakers. And, of course, there'll be a chance to try and buy some while you're there! We pass old wind turbines that just a few years ago pumped water out of the ground for the fields. We will visit the monastery Kara Kardiotissa and then take a short break and try the local cheese pie with honey, which the region is famous for. We then head to the village of Krasi, where we see the mighty plane tree which, with a circumference of 18 metres, is said to be the largest plane tree in Crete and one of the largest in Europe. The ruins of the palace complex here bring evidence of a glorious past destroyed by fire and earthquake and rebuilt shortly after. The day tour continues to the village of Matala, well known worldwide as – among others – a favourite destination of hippies during the 70s. Enjoy the beach or stroll around in the village's narrow streets with many shops, cafes and tavernas. Dinner at a tavern. B/D

Here, we open a new chapter in history... in front of us lies an imposing Venetian fortress that takes us back to when Crete was an important base for the mighty maritime and trading power. The old leper village on the small island, which can be visited amid the fortress walls, is impressive. The view from Spinalonga on Crete is breathtaking. Situated at the top of a steep rock, The Acropolis of Lindos harmoniously combined the Temple of Athena Lindia, the Byzantine church, Roman temple ruins, the medieval castle and a strong pinion wall encircling the complex. From the height of the Acropolis, we can enjoy stupendous views of the sea and the mountains as well as St.Paul's bay. To enjoy a tour of the town or ascend Acropolis, you can procure the services of a traditional Lindos taxi – more commonly known as a donkey - at a nominal cost. Today, we will also explore the Seven Springs. According to legend, the water in these brooks is miraculous. You might want to walk through the tunnel built by the Italians during the war.
